EISENHOWER AND NIXON CHOSEN BY REPUBLICANS TO LEAD FIGHT AGAINST DEMOCRATS; GIVEN GREAT OVATION BY DELEGATES IN SPEECHES OF ACCEPTANCE

Eisenhower Received 595 Votes, Nine Short of Required Number On First Ballot; Senator Taft Received 500 Votes; Eisenhower Delivers Speech of Acceptance

CHICAGO, July 12 — General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower won a hard-fought first-ballot nomination yesterday as the Republican candidate for President and Senator Richard M. Nixon of California was chosen by acclamation as his running mate for the Vice Presidency.

General Eisenhower won in a bitterly divided Republican convention. In the last week the general had taken leadership in the contest from Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, the chief party spokesman in Congress, who was making his third unsuccessful bid for nomination to the office once held by his father, William Howard Taft.

Victory came for General Eisenhower on the first ballot. The official results were 845 for General Eisenhower, 280 for Senator Taft, 77 for Gov. Earl Warren of California, and 4 for General of the Army Douglas MacArthur.

When the first roll-call of the states was completed, General Eisenhower had 595 votes—nine short of the required majority of 604—and Senator Taft had 500. The balance of power rested with favorite-son candidates, such as Governor Warren, who had eighty-one votes, and Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota Governor, with twenty. General MacArthur picked up only ten votes.

And while Governor Warren's California delegation held firm in the hope of a deadlock, Minnesota delegates left Mr. Stassen before the first ballot results could be announced. The switch of nineteen votes from that state added to General Eisenhower's previous total gave him 614, or ten more than a majority. Then other states began to change their vote total also in order to be recorded on the side of the winner.

Thus, while General Eisenhower's nomination later was made unanimous on the motion of principal backers of Senator Taft and Governor Warren, who pledged the support for their principals to the nominee, it was made clear that General Eisenhower was the choice of a divided convention, and that one of his first tasks would be to restore party unity and heal the deep wounds inflicted during the fierce competition for the nomination.

CHICAGO, July 12 — Text of Dwight D. Eisenhower's speech formally accepting the Republican Presidential nomination: Mr. Chairman, my fellow Republicans:

May I first thank you on behalf of Mrs. Eisenhower and myself for the warmth of your welcome. For us both, this is our first entry into a political convention, and it is a most heartwarming one. Thank you very much.

And before I proceed with the thoughts that I should like to address briefly to you, may I have the temerity to congratulate this convention on the selection of their nominee for Vice President, a man who has shown statesman-like qualities in many ways, but as a special challenge, an ability to ferret out any kind of subversive influence.

HARRISBURG, July 12 — (INS) — Pennsylvania's 24-hour air alert to protect the state against enemy aircraft goes into effect Monday at half-strength.

Only 19,000 of 35,000 civil defense volunteers necessary to man the posts are trained and ready for duty. Another 16,000 men and women are needed if the observation posts are to be staffed full-time.

Purpose of the nation-wide system of ground observers is to spot aircraft, identify them and report them to a central center.

"Ground observers," said Dr. Richard Gerstell, "back up the radar net and make it tight. They add the human touch to the net, which extends throughout Canada and the United States but is still incomplete."

The state civil defense director explained that radar cannot see through mountains, can be jammed by the enemy, can be thrown off track by atmospheric conditions and is a mechanical device that will break down.

Gerstell said the Air Force, which will direct the air alert crews, de-

On A Sunny Day

(By "The Stroller")
The change in the weather back to the sunny side of the clouds reflected life in Bristol and its environs with a bit more sparkle as the landscape, waxed by the rain and polished by the breeze, became a giant dance-floor for lively sunbeams, to the tunes of birds and insects.

Most noticeable was the greenness of the crops. But all plants had a fresh look. Also noticeable was the appreciation of the change by the tillers of the soil. Almost all were bare-footed. The soil was neither dusty or muddy but moist enough to be worked easily, with comfort and enjoyment.

In town the sidewalks were too warm for bare feet, especially for the young people who enjoy this freedom the most. However, hoky-poky eased the discomfort and the remains of the high tide mark of it in the cup could be noticed on many faces, even those of babes-in-arms.

A few dogs on side streets seemed glad to sniff dry streets again.

Swimmers were back in full strength at Silver Lake and fishermen again lined the lake and canal in most places.

Wash was snapping and popping on the line and should be crunchy by sundown.

More people were out and off their porches. It's easier to hide from the sun than the rain.

By Hugh L. Morris (INS Staff Correspondent)
HARRISBURG, July 12 — (INS) — Pennsylvania's 24-hour air alert to protect the state against enemy aircraft goes into effect Monday at half-strength.

Only 19,000 of 35,000 civil defense volunteers necessary to man the posts are trained and ready for duty. Another 16,000 men and women are needed if the observation posts are to be staffed full-time.

Purpose of the nation-wide system of ground observers is to spot aircraft, identify them and report them to a central center. "Ground observers," said Dr. Richard Gerstell, "back up the radar net and make it tight. They add the human touch to the net, which extends throughout Canada and the United States but is still incomplete."

The state civil defense director explained that radar cannot see through mountains, can be jammed by the enemy, can be thrown off track by atmospheric conditions and is a mechanical device that will break down.

Gerstell said the Air Force, which will direct the air alert crews, de-

On A Sunny Day

(By "The Stroller")
The change in the weather back to the sunny side of the clouds reflected life in Bristol and its environs with a bit more sparkle as the landscape, waxed by the rain and polished by the breeze, became a giant dance-floor for lively sunbeams, to the tunes of birds and insects.

Most noticeable was the greenness of the crops. But all plants had a fresh look. Also noticeable was the appreciation of the change by the tillers of the soil. Almost all were barefooted. The soil was neither dusty or muddy but moist enough to be worked easily, with comfort and enjoyment.

In town the sidewalks were too warm for bare feet, especially for the young people who enjoy this freedom the most. However, hoky-poky eased the discomfort and the remains of the high tide mark of it in the cup could be noticed on many faces, even those of babes-in-arms.

A few dogs on side streets seemed glad to sniff dry streets again.

Swimmers were back in full strength at Silver Lake and fishermen again lined the lake and canal in most places.

Wash was snapping and popping on the line and should be crunchy by sundown. More people were out and off their porches. It's easier to hide from the sun than the rain.

Prowler Beats Nurse; Robs Patient

Philadelphia—A prowler was captured by doctors and interns under a fifth floor bed in Philadelphia's Graduate Hospital today after he had beaten a nurse and robbed a patient. The captive, Joseph Green, 37, was surprised by nurse Patricia Haynes, 21, in charge of the children's ward as she made a routine inspection. Miss Haynes struggled with him and finally broke away from his grasp, then ran screaming into a corridor bringing physicians and orderlies to her aid. The attacks began a systematic search when they heard cries from Anthony Roscoe, a patient, that a man had just robbed him of $1 and was hiding beneath his bed. Green was pulled out from his hiding place and turned over to the police.

GREEN GROW THE GRASSES

Had your chlorophyll today?

The green stuff is supposed to make one smell like the breath of
kine, if you care for that sort of thing; and evidently a lot of people do. More and more products are being spiked with chlorophyll.

Consider the daily routine of
Mr. O. John ("Odorless Jack")
Green. When the alarm awakens
him, he raises his head from his chlorophyll pillow and prepares to face the new day. He washes and
shaves with the aid of chlorophyll
soap, douses his face with chloro-
phyll cologne, brushes his teeth
with a green tooth paste containing chlorophyll, followed by a
chlorophyll mouth wash.

He puts on shoes with chloro-
phyll linings, walks across a carpet laid over chlorophyll cushioning, kisses Mrs. Green goodbye.
Lighting a chlorophyll cigarette,
he sets out for the office. Mrs. G.
remembers to open a can of chloro-
phyll dog food for the pooch,
anoints her skin with chlorophyll
ointment, and pops a hunk of chlorophyll chewing gum into her
mouth.

That night Mr. G. remembers
to shampoo his hair, what's left
of it. He goes to work with a chlorophyll shampoo.

All this does him a lot of good,
if only because he thinks it does.
It also costs him a pretty penny.
But if he wants to be a cheapskate,
he can just step outside. At this
time of year every green leaf,
every green growing thing, is chuck full of chlorophyll. Even in winter, he might be able to get a
breath as sweet as Bossie's by following her example and chewing a cud of alfalfa hay.

STRIKE EFFECT TO LINGER

The nation will awaken to a
realization that the steel strike,
whenever settled now, has already
laid the basis for extensive damages to the American economy.
The strike produced a feeling that,
unless unduly prolonged, it would
not amount to much because there
were large steel inventories on hand when it began. While there
was considerable steel, there will
be after-effects which cannot now
be avoided.

The steel supply line is being
dried up from the iron ore source,
across the Great Lakes to the
plants themselves. With the strike
over, getting enough iron ore to
renew full production will be a problem, particularly if Great
Lakes transportation turns bad.
Scrap iron also needed in the
steel process, is being accumulated, but this may vanish quickly
in the face of huge demand.

If steel production cannot be
brought back fully after the strike,
there is a bleak prospect of rationing to keep defense production going, the closing of consumer products plants for lack of
steel, unemployment and the stop-
page of many vital public works.

The inescapable conclusion is
that industry-wide strikes are extremely costly to strikers, business and the country. How to avoid them remains one of the
major problems of America.

GREEN GROW THE GRASSES

Had your chlorophyll today?

The green stuff is supposed to
make one smell like the breath of
kine, if you care for that sort of thing; and evidently a lot of people do. More and more products are being spiked with chlorophyll.

Consider the daily routine of
Mr. O. John ("Odorless Jack").
Green. When the alarm awakens
him, he raises his head from his
chlorophyll pillow and prepares to face the new day. He washes and
shaves with the aid of chlorophyll
soap, douses his face with chloro-
phyll cologne, brushes his teeth
with a green tooth paste containing chlorophyll, followed by a
chlorophyll mouth wash.

He puts on shoes with chloro-
phyll linings, walks across a carpet laid over chlorophyll cushion-
ing, kisses Mrs. Green goodbye.
Lighting a chlorophyll cigarette,
he sets out for the office. Mrs. G.
remembers to open a can of chlorophyll dog food for the pooch, anoints her skin with chlorophyll
ointment, and pops a hunk of
chlorophyll chewing gum into her
mouth.

That night Mr. G. remembers
to shampoo his hair, what's left
of it. He goes to work with a
chlorophyll shampoo.

All this does him a lot of good,
if only because he thinks it does.
It also costs him a pretty penny.
But if he wants to be a cheapskate,
he can just step outside. At this
time of year every green leaf,
every green growing thing, is
chuck full of chlorophyll. Even in
winter, he might be able to get a
breath as sweet as Bossie's by following her example and chewing a cud of alfalfa hay.

STRIKE EFFECT TO LINGER

The nation will awaken to a
realization that the steel strike,
whenever settled now, has already
laid the basis for extensive dam-
ages to the American economy.
The strike produced a feeling that,
unless unduly prolonged, it would
not amount to much because there
were large steel inventories on
hand when it began. While there
was considerable steel, there will
be after-effects which cannot now
be avoided.

The steel supply line is being
dried up from the iron ore source,
across the Great Lakes to the
plants themselves. With the strike
over, getting enough iron ore to
renew full production will be a
problem, particularly if Great
Lakes transportation turns bad.
Scrap iron also needed in the
steel process, is being accumulated, but this may vanish quickly
in the face of huge demand.

If steel production cannot be
brought back fully after the strike,
there is a bleak prospect of rationing to keep defense production going, the closing of consumer products plants for lack of
steel, unemployment and the stop-
page of many vital public works.

The inescapable conclusion is
that industry-wide strikes are extremely costly to strikers, business and the country. How to avoid them remains one of the
major problems of America.

24-Hour Alert Goes Into Effect Monday

A 24-hour operation is needed because of the location of 800 Russian TU-4's in Siberia. From their bases they could reach any city in the United States. Gerstell said Army intelligence has reported that 400 of these planes—Russia's equivalent of the B-29 long range bomber—are ready to go "with atomic bombs and other weapons."

To spot these bombers or any other enemy aircraft in the vicinity of this country is the purpose of one million volunteers who will staff 20,000 observation posts in 36 states.

A vital link in the chain will be Pennsylvania's 627 observation posts located at eight-mile intervals throughout the state.

Their reports would be made by direct telephone lines to filter centers in Harrisburg or Pittsburgh, two of 50 such filter centers in the country which will plot the course of planes and notify the Air Force to send up interceptor fighters if necessary.

Air Force planes charged with responsibility of protecting the Pennsylvania area are headquartered at Roslyn field, Long Island. Volunteers manning the observation posts will work in two and four-hour shifts 'round-the-clock. Gerstell stressed that no knowledge of aircraft is necessary and urged housewives or others with a few spare hours to volunteer for duty. Staffers are recruited and trained by the civil defense organization but they come under jurisdiction of the Air Force once they start work. Gerstell said there are now 17,500 volunteers of 32,000 men and women needed for observation posts. Also trained and ready for duty are 1,500 of 3,200 workers to be used in the two filter stations.

FIRE OCCURS AT HOME IMPROVEMENT CENTER

Trash Fire Spreads To Grass and Joists; Little Damage

EDGELY CO. ANSWERS

LEVITTOWN, July 12 — One of the first fires in this section occurred yesterday afternoon at the office of the Levittown Home Improvement Center along Route 13. The fire occurred at four p. m., and the alarm was answered by Edgely Fire Company No. 1. The fire had started with burning trash. It spread to the surrounding high grass and weeds which easily caught fire because they were dry underneath.

From the area around the building the fire spread to the grass underneath the building. There it scorched the joists but caused no serious damage, according to Fred Hibbs, Edgely fire chief.

The building, which is owned by Dan O'Reilly, New York, is located near the hut housing Slaters Signs. The Home Improvement Center will be moving shortly from this location to one closer to Bristol, across the highway from Bristol Terrace No. 1.

The center handles such problems of Levitt home owners as giving advice on draperies and floor coverings, installation of storm and screen sash, carpet improvements and appliance uses.

PACIFIC STEEL STILL DRIVES OUT OF CELLAR

Pacific Steel continued its drive to vacate the cellar of the Bristol Softball League by beating Franklin A. C. 4-3, last evening on Memorial field.

Two runs in the sixth frame which erased a 3-2 lead of Franklin gave the boiler-makers the victory. Mike DeLise started the rally by beating out a bunt and hoofing it to second on Vince Mastriani's bad throw. Bob Calone grounded out, DeLise holding on to second. Fred Costantino lined out a hit to left, DeLise's throw had the runner at the plate but Mastriani let the ball get away from him, Costantino reaching third on the play. Alex Dewsnap delivered a bingle to center to score Costantino with the winning tally.

"Whizzer" White was the winning chucker with the defeat going to Tony Capella. White allowed the run into trouble in the person of Franklin team but four hits but "Toby" Oriola. Oriola made two of the four hits and scored the trio of markers. In the sixth, he made a clean steal of home to give his team a temporary one-run lead.

Of the Pacific Steel's seven hits, Tom Ruggieri and Costantino had two each.

The triumph put Pacific two games away from fifth place.

fluence wherever it may be found and the strength and persistence to get rid of it.

You have summoned me on behalf of millions of your fellow Americans to lead a great crusade—for freedom in America and a freedom in the world. I know something of the solemn responsibility of leading a crusade. I have led one.

I take up this task, therefore, in a spirit of deep obligation. Mindful of its burden and of its decisive importance: I accept your summons. I will lead this crusade.

Our aims—the aims of this Republican crusade—are clear: To sweep from office an Administration which has fastened on every one of us the wastefulness, the arrogance and corruption in high places, the heavy burdens and the anxieties which are the bitter fruit of a party too long in power.

Much more, it is our aim to give to our country a program of progressive policies drawn from our finest Republican traditions; to unite us wherever we have been divided; to strengthen freedom wherever among any group it has been weakened; to build a sure foundation for sound prosperity for all here at home and for a just and sure peace in our world.

To achieve these aims we must have total victory, we must have more Republicans in our State and local offices; more Republican Governors in our States; a Republican majority in the United States House of Representatives and in the United States Senate; and a Republican in the White House.

Today is the first day of our battle. The road that leads to Nov. 4th is a fighting road. In that fight I will keep nothing in reserve.

I have stood before on the eve of battle. Before every attack it has always been my practice to seek out our men in their camps and along the road and talk with them face to face about their concerns and discuss with them the great mission to which we were all committed.

In this battle to which all of us are now committed it will be my practice to meet and talk with Americans face to face in every section, every corner, every nook and cranny of this land.

I know that such a momentous campaign cannot be won by a few or by divided or by uncertain forces. So to all those from the precinct level up who have worked long hours at difficult tasks in support of our party—and for our party's candidates—I extend an earnest call to join up; join up for longer hours and harder work and even greater devotion to this cause. I call on you to bring into this effort your neighbors next door and across the street. This is not a job for any one of us or for just a few of us. It will take the best in all of us.

Since this morning I have had helpful and heartwarming talks with Senator Taft, Governor Warren and Governor Stassen. I wanted them to know, as I want you now to know, that in the hard fight ahead we will work intimately together to promote the principles and aims of our party. I was strengthened and heartened by their instant agreement to support this course to the utmost. Their cooperation means that the Republican Party will unitedly move forward to a sweeping victory.

We are now at a moment in history when, under God, this Nation of ours has become the mightiest temporal power and the mightiest spiritual force on earth. The destiny of mankind—and the making of a world that will be fit for our children to live in—hangs in the balance on what we say and what we accomplish in the months ahead.

We must use our power wisely for the good of all our people. If we do this, we will open a road into the future on which today's Americans, young and old, and the generations that come after them, can go forward—go forward to a life in which there will be far greater abundance of material, cultural and spiritual rewards than our forefathers or we ever dreamed of.

We can then so undergird our freedom that today's aggressors and those who tomorrow may rise up to threaten us, will not merely be deterred but stopped in their tracks. Then we will at last be on the road to real peace.

The American people look to us to direct our Nation's might to these purposes.

As we launch this crusade we call to go forward with us the youth of America. This cause needs their enthusiasm, their devotion, and the lift their vision of the future will provide. We call to go forward with us the women of America; our workers, farmers, business men.

As we go to the country, Americans in every walk of life can have confidence that our single-minded purpose is to serve their interest, guard and extend their rights, and strengthen the America we love.

The noble service to which we summon all Americans is not only for one campaign or for one election. Our summons is to a life-time enrollment. And our party shall always remain committed to a more secure, a brighter and an even better future for all our people.

We go out from here with unbounded trust in the American people. We go out from here to merit their unbounded trust in us.

Wherever I am, I will end each day of this campaign thinking of millions of American homes large and small; of fathers and mothers working and sacrificing to make sure that their children are well cared for, free from fear; full of good hope for the future, proud citizens of a country that will stand among the nations as the leader of a peaceful and prosperous world.

Ladies and gentlemen, my dear friends, that have heaped upon me such honor, it is more than a nomination I accept today. It is a dedication—a dedication to the shining promise of tomorrow. As together we face that tomorrow, I beseech the prayers of all or people and the blessing and guidance of Almighty God.

PACIFIC STEEL STILL DRIVES OUT OF CELLAR

Pacific Steel continued its drive to vacate the cellar of the Bristol Softball League by beating Franklin A. C., 4-3, last evening on Memorial field.

Two runs in the sixth frame which erased a 3-2 lead of Franklin gave the boiler-makers the victory. Mike DeLisa started the rally by beating out a bunt and hoofing it to second on Vince Mastriani's bad throw. Bob Calone grounded out, DeLisa holding on to second. Fred Constantino lined out a hit to left. DeLisa's throw had the runner at the plate but Mastriani let the ball get away from him, Constantino reaching third on the play. Alex Dewnap delivered a lunge to center to score Constantino with the winning tally.

"Whizzer" White was the winning chucker with the defeat going to Tony Capella. White allowed the run into trouble in the person of Franklin team but four hits but "Toby" Oriola. Oriola made two of the four hits and scored the trio of markers. In the sixth, he made a clean steal of home to give his team a temporary one-run lead.

Of the Pacific Steel's seven hits, Tom Ruggieri and Constantino had two each.

The triumph put Pacific two games away from fifth place.

Eisenhower and Nixon Chosen To Lead Fight Against The Democrats

fluence wherever it may be found and the strength and persistence to get rid of it.

You have summoned me on behalf of millions of your fellow Americans to lead a great crusade — for freedom in America and a freedom in the world. I know something of the solemn responsibility of leading a crusade. I have led one.
